October 11, 2008, is the sixth anniversary of the Congressional authorization for the use of force against the Iraqi people. This war and occupation was justified with lies. More than 4,000 U.S. troops have died, and more than 600,000 Iraqis have been killed.

The war costs $750,000 a day – money that could be spent to rebuild schools and infrastructure and to create real jobs in the economy.
